Breaking News

Sparkman&Stephens Legacy

After years of litigation, now arrived to the end, we are happy to hear, and share with you all, that Mystic Seaport Museum (the American Institution to which Rod and Olin Stephens have deposited the design archive, and entrusted to making all the documents available to whomever), is now, again, allowed to make available S&S designs, with fewer restrictions than in the past.

The philosophy of Sparkman&Stephens, to maintain and service the history of yachting and yachting community, is now up and running again.

We are enthusiastic about the good news!

(It has been a hard time, after the end of availability of help, assistance and documents from the builder, to loose even the drawings from Mystic was a big problem)
